DETAILED ACTION

1. The restriction requirement mailed 1/15/2008 has been withdrawn. As discussed with Mark Nuell on 3/7/2008, the restriction requirement mailed 1/15/2008 was inadvertently based on the incorrect claims. The following restriction is based on the claim set of 6/09/2005.

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-8 and 10-26, drawn to a method for detecting the presence or absence of a variant genotype of the human $\alpha 2B$ -adrenoceptor wherein the detection is drawn to detection of nucleic acid variants.

Group II, claim(s) 1, 7-26, drawn to a method for detecting the presence or absence of a variant genotype of the human $\alpha 2B$ -adrenoceptor wherein the detection is drawn to detection of polypeptide variants.

Group III, claim(s) 27-29, drawn to a kit comprising a means for determining a pattern of alleles encoding a variant $\alpha 2B$ -adrenoceptor by capturing nucleotide acid probes and optionally computer software.

Group IV, claim(s) 27-29, drawn to a kit comprising a means for determining a pattern of alleles encoding a variant $\alpha 2B$ -adrenoceptor by capturing an antibody and optionally computer software.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I-IV do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features. According to PCT Rule 13.2, unity of invention exists only when a shared same or corresponding special technical feature is a contribution over the prior art. The technical feature, which is charred by Groups I-VI, is detection of the D/D genotype of the human $\alpha 2B$ -adrenoceptor. Groups I-VI do not share a special technical feature over the art because Heinonen et al. (The Journal of Clinical Endocrinology and Metabolism 1999 Vol 84 p. 2429)). Therefore Heinonen et al. teaches all the limitations of the technical feature and the technical feature fails to make a contribution over the prior art; therefore there is no special technical feature between Groups I-VI.

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Drug: pindolol, propranolol, sotalol, timolol, acebutolol, atenol, betaxolol, bioprol, esmolol, metoprolol, seliprol, carvediolo, labetalol, clonidine, moxonidine, praxosin, or indapamid.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

4. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

The claims are drawn to determining the response of treatment with any of the above listed drugs.

The following claim(s) are generic: 1-15 and 17-26.

5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The compounds listed in the above groups do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the description fails to disclose that all of the compounds share a common property or activity. Each compound is a structurally distinct drug modulating compound with distinct effects and modes of operation.

6. In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

8. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
